BATAVIA, N. Y.

Foreword

WE hope that memories of the past and a knowledge of the present will strengthen these ties which, "though light as air are strong as bands of iron," and that bind together all that splendid array of Alumni of Batavia High School, in every walk of life, in every part of the world, who, in the past forty-two years have gone out from our Alma Mater upholding the standards of justice, mercy, and truth; inspiring us with worthy ideals, and nobly responding to every call of B.H.S.

NEW BATAVIA HIGH SCHOOL

Calvin Coolidge

President Calvin Coolidge

FOR the first time in the history of B. H. S. the President of the United States, at the time of publication, appears in the Batavian. We salute you, and tender you our gratitude for the honor you have bestowed.

EDITORIALS

Every year some poor unfortunates have to spend an entire evening in an attempt to express adequately and clearly their conception of what graduation actually means to one. Never until this editorial was written had we understood the necessity of so much bombast and empty phrases in an editor's vocabulary. Now we know: it is much easier to talk than to think. After four years of high-school study one ought to be able to think without effort (?) but it is not easy for us.

Notwithstanding the ironic comments which are usually forthcoming from the skeptics whenever the phrase "* * marks an important stage in life" strikes their eyes, after all, we say, graduation for the majority of us does mark an important stage in our respective lives. In every graduation year very important decisions are made: along about in September most of us either make plans to continue our schooling or else go to work; some of us may work for a year and then continue our studies, and some of us shall never return for any higher education. If one be positive that he already possesses sufficient education to successfully rise in the profession he intends to select as a life's work, it would be unwise for him to return to school. But if one knows he lacks information which is essential for a thorough understanding of a chosen profession then he should return for the acquisition of that information. Not much of a complex question there; nevertheless many lives are handicapped from the start solely because the graduates never have looked far enough into the future; never have made a comprehensive examination of their abilities and personalities.

We think that if every one would think intently of the future; picture himself, say, after a lapse of 30 or 40 years, there should result more happy lives and more congenial ways of obtaining a living. For if one thought seriously enough of the future, and its old-age period, he should surely desire to avoid being dependent upon anyone: he would shape his life and plans in such a manner so as to insure success; so as to be certain that in his later years he should be contented and happy.

But, after all, the importance of looking ahead should not be unduly stressed. Any appeal to youth to increase or lengthen its vision evokes but an indifferent answer. Future, to the young, means a myth—something invented by parents and guardians out of chagrin and disappointment over a grim realization that the time for their foolishly good times is past; over a disturbing realization that age never slackens in his pace, rather seems to increase it. And there is much excuse for this state of mind in us young ones. Too often have we seen Mr. Future, and his grand-dad, Old Importance, marched out in front of us, hastily dressed in glittering, gay, almost gaudy garments. We have seen them make a bow, stiff and labored and we have laughed at them. Is there wonder? Objects with a clownish appearance always summon up laughter; tragedy itself, if dressed, by an unskilled hand, in a patched silver jacket and golden pantaloons, baggy at the knees, would find only tears of laughter. And, we think, find only what it deserves.

The School Song

BY W. LESLIE CORVELL, '01

Our school has always favored
That rich and glossy blue,
Which with white in combination,
Is beautiful and true.
They are always floating gaily
And never out of sight;
While in unison we're singing—
Long live the Blue and White.

We will ever praise our High School,
Which in Batavia stands;
"Individual Instruction,"
Known now throughout all lands,
And its faithful corps of teachers,
Their duties never slight,
For they know that they are working
For the Blue and White.

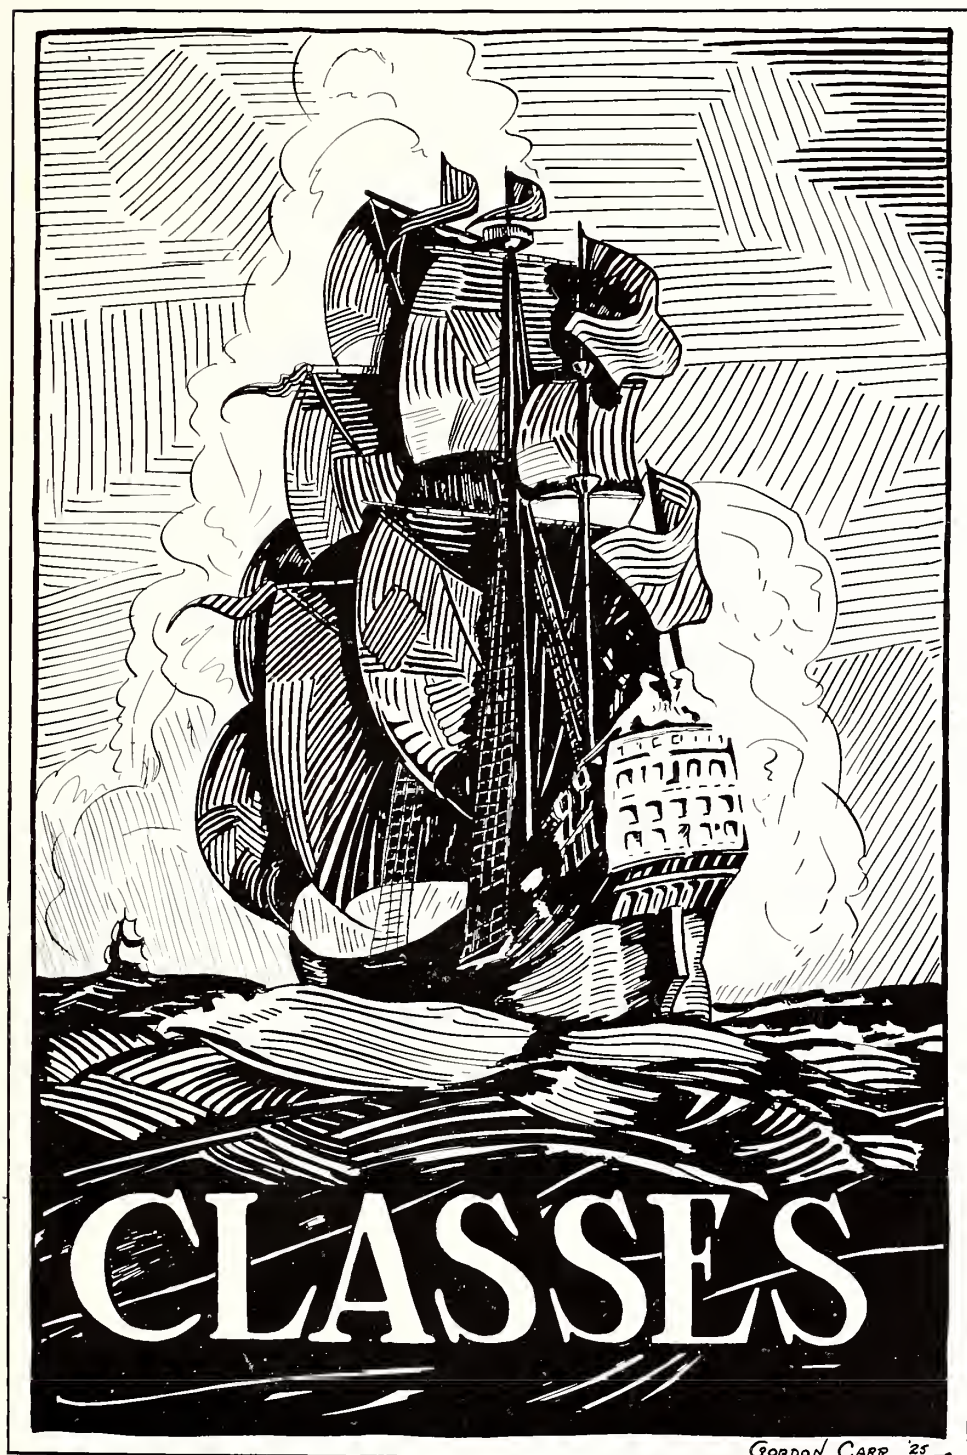

We recall athletic victories
On many a day before;
How we captured prize and trophy
But still we wished for more,
But we're sure that we'll not falter
As we renew the fight,
Just because we're marching onward
'Neath the Blue and White.

The Class Song

We are the class of '25, in dear old B.H.S.
In music and athletics, too,
A lot depends on what we can do,
We'll keep a high standard in Scholarship,
And show them we're alive,
Oh, we are the Class,
Yes, we are the Class of '25.

“Preparation--the Price of Success”

CLASS ESSAY

Just as I am sure that there is no one of us who does not wish to succeed in his or her school work, so also am I sure that there is no one of us that does not desire to succeed in the larger work of Life.

Some of us in days past have seemed to believe that success was a matter of grasping the opportunities that have presented themselves; in other words, a matter of Luck. But, there have also been some of us who, by their actions, have shown a belief that success lay in thorough and regular preparation. These latter students have consistently won success in their school work and will continue to do so in the larger work of Life.

It is not Luck that makes us what we are, but thorough consistent preparation.

There was once a lawyer who, although graduated from one of the best law schools, yet was receiving no practice from his fellow citizens. Did he get discouraged and give up? Not he. He made it a practice to go to court regularly. He made out briefs and studied the various cases just as conscientiously as though he had been the lawyer who was conducting the cases. It was discouraging, disheartening work for he got no apparent reward, as no one knew what he was doing. Then one day the lawyer on one of the cases was taken ill and he was appointed to carry on the case. You can imagine the amazement of the other lawyers at the ease and skill with which the case went on.

Was it the opportunity that made that man the lawyer that he was? No. A thousand times NO. He had been practicing law for a long time without recognition and without reward, but when his opportunity did come he was prepared.

Now, fellow classmates, we are leaving Batavia High School. Some of us are going on to college. Some of us are now planning to enter the Big Game of Life. But remember, friends, wherever we go, whatever we do, we will succeed or we will fail in direct proportion as we prepare ourselves for whatever may be our work.

THEODORE L. SALISBURY, '25.

History of the Class of '25

It was in a Senior meeting that I suddenly came to with the terrifying news that I had been elected the Class Historian with a large and dubious ask on my hands. I immediately began to wonder how I could ever write such a history when Peter Pan flew in the window and carried me off with him. First we floated over the ruins of old B.H.S. Out of the debris that had fallen into the basement, a long black shadow elongated into the wraith of Leonidas Reimer and his inevitable black pipe. He seemed to rise regretfully from his old arm chair in the warm corner of the furnace. His wraith stalked around the ruins for a long time, and it brought back to my mind the many happy events of our four years in B.H.S.

Just three hundred and one years after the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, a similar band of Pilgrims landed at the old red brick building on Ross Street, Batavia, New York. The Pilgrim Fathers were a small band of about one hundred and five people, including men, women and children while our band of Pilgrims numbered one hundred and seventy-two, but felt quite smart as they were carrying their parchments which they had recently received as an evidence that they had completed eight years of preliminary work in the grades. The first band had no friends or neighbors except Indians. They were left to establish their own customs and languages. Our band had very few friends, but plenty of neighbors. We were not allowed to establish our own customs and language as much as we would have liked to do. Our neighbors, who incidentally went by the names of Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, called us "Freshmen" and tried to make everyone think that we were green. Soon even the Freshmen began to think themselves green; but we were determined to fool our neighbors and shed our greenness sooner than expected. So on January 9, 1922 we assembled in a town meeting and decided to elect our town officers. After very serious consideration we decided that Chauncey Kibbe was our most able citizen, so honored him with the office of mayor. After a diligent quest for the most honest man in the assembly, we chose Lawrence Mulcahy as comptroller.

Now we were an organized body with the officials. However, this was not enough for us, so when the entire state competed in a contest we Freshmen felt it our bounden duty to walk off with the prize—a handsome banner in our colors—blue and gold.

Nevertheless, the courage of the Freshmen was not daunted and we appeared well represented in all activities. Then in the early spring we thought it high time to indulge in a little pleasure, instead of working (?) all the time, so we held a party, which everyone enjoyed even to the mayor who was entertained elsewhere by the upperclass men! !

Now we had acquired the name of Sophomores. We were not quite so strong this year, as the first winter proved to be the hardest even as the "Starving Time" depleted the ranks of the Pilgrim Fathers. As Sophomores we had the same zeal as when we were Freshmen so we assembled in the town hall to again elect the town officers. This time we chose Roland Nye as mayor and Harrington Leedom, the dwarf of our band, as the town clerk.

Again we walked off with a prize, this time the box at the Senior Play! !

By this time the older statesmen did not look down upon us quite so much. Then we were again forced to take a vacation.

As we were a very unsuperstitious group we held a banquet on Friday, the thirteenth of April. Here we enjoyed some very interesting talks by some of our fellow townsmen and by the Rev. Mr. Collett, recently returned from India where he had served as a missionary.

When we returned to the old red building next we bore the name of Juniors and ranked nearly as high as the Seniors and were allowed to sit in the town hall. However, that did not last long as every one moved into a much better and larger building in February and only Seniors could sit in the town hall. But we had that to look forward to.

This year as in previous years the class of '25 was well represented in all activities, such as music, athletics, and speaking.

For the last time we all met in the old town hall to elect our officers to carry us through another year. This time we chose Gordon Carr as mayor and as we could find no one more honest than "Pete" Mulcahy, we again chose him comptroller.

All social events were postponed until later in the year so that they might be held in the new building. So on the thirteenth of April (but this time Thursday) we held our annual banquet. Various important personages were delayed and the banquet started later than had been planned. However, after all had arrived we had a very enjoyable time with interesting speeches, songs, games, and dancing.

In May the Juniors held the annual Junior Prom. Various committees had worked hard to make this a success both in beauty, enjoyment, and financially. All declared it was the best ever.

After another vacation we returned to the new building on Ross Street as full-fledged Seniors. We numbered only about ninety-four as many had fallen in the various battles for existence. We immediately took up our duties as the oldest and most distinguished group in the building.

We soon decided on "Pete" Mulcahy as our pilot and "Bob" Noonan as bursar to steer our ship of state through the rapids and dangerous shoals we met as we neared the further shore. Under a new form of government the Seniors must also furnish a man capable of being mayor of the entire group. For this man we chose Frank Hulburt.

Early in the fall we decided to co-operate with our neighbors and so we held a successful Junior-Senior party. In December the Seniors had a banquet, a fitting tribute to the dining art to celebrate the success of our last and hardest year. Of course, this was very much enjoyed by every one who attended.

Since Christmas there have been several names which have stood out prominently, among which are: Chauncey Kibbe, Harris Gardner, and Vincent Murphy who received first, second and third places respectively in the Huntley Contest. Harris also won first place in the Columbia try-outs and had a hilarious week in New York City. The first three mentioned again represented B.H.S. in the Larkin Contest.

The next big event—yes, the biggest of the year, and the one which makes us the saddest—is Commencement Week, the most glorious time of our four years in High School and when we will finally embark on a new sea—many of us to further our education and others to go into business. We bid a fond farewell to dear old B.H.S. which has shown us so many good times!!

Class Prophecy

New York City, New York
June 31, 1950.

Dr. Lawrence Mulcahy,
Telescope Lens,
Jupiter
Dear Friend Pete:

At the reunion of the class of '25 held at Atlantic City most of the class, who were living, were there but for a few exceptions. Harrington Leedom, who lives at Bethany instead of East Bethany, found it impossible for him to attend. Walter Stanley is at a sanitarium in California. I always thought the squirrels would get him if Florence Ball didn't. Carl Farber is in the hospital for singing, "Ireland must be Heaven 'cause my mother came from there," when an Irish cop overheard him.

Most everybody was there early except for Herb Roach, the editor-in-chief of the Police Gazette, who always was late, and Florence Bower, who had trouble with her airplane, and was forced to stay in the air until Edward Whyman, the Great Inventor, hitched up his horse and went up and fixed the machine.

Richard Graham was our toastmaster. You know he is the greatest of all surgeons, because the rest are all dead. Our first speaker was no other than Harris Gardner, who is one of the best lawyers, but in the meantime he still runs his "Hennerly" on the Alexander Road. The next speaker was Clair Lenihan alias "The Irish Orator." He has been married for 13 years and has to wear glasses to keep his wife from hitting him. He spoke on "There's Nothing Worse Than Married Life." Last, but not least of the speakers, was Margaret Timmens, who runs a refuge for disabled animals.

Before the dinner was quite over Chauncey Kibbe, the Mayor of New York City, took some of the old gals for a ride in a rowboat and right in the middle of the lake he upset the boat. Vincent Murphy who was always looking for a chance to show Helen Buhl how brave he was, went out and saved her. Paul Mooney, the celebrated dog catcher, after several unsuccessful attempts saved Marguerite Lester. The other three—Elinor Jackson, Elizabeth Fisher, and Onnolee Hiscutt were saved by Harold Myers and his invisible submarine.

After this little excitement we had some races. Bill Ware and Bob Noonan, who are both running for sheriff of Squedunk County, won the running races practically because they are so used to running. Florence Ball is still mourning over the loss of Walter Stanely, 15 years ago, when they had a squabble. She won the fat woman's race. Joseph Schmitt, the California Life Saver, won the swimming races because he has had many experiences saving the bathing beauties. Elmer Holly, "The Pirate," who is looking for Treasure Island won the boat race.

After this, most of the boys went and played ball except Larry Winslow, "The Shiek," and Arthur Norton, who stayed and played with the girls. Among the baseball players were: "Fat" Callahan, the Giants' Marvel Catcher, and Howard Johnston, the Radio Wizard, was the pitcher. Nobody could hit the ball so nobody made any runs. That didn't bother Anthony Suozzi and Edward Ireland any because they couldn't stop a ball anyway.

The rest of the day was spent talking about olden times. Vincent Gullo told many interesting tales of his Cicero class. Gordon Carr told us how easy it was to graduate with eighty counts his fourth year. Stanley Baldwin and Gertrude Bousser told how they finally got business English after five unsuccessful attempts. Franklin Davison and Frank Hulbert told how they made the all-American football team 15 years ago.

At night a concert was given by Betty Merriman and Frank Thomas who are playing at the Lyceum for the next ten years. Preston Multer and Catherine Cornwell sang many delightful songs and Alberta Hartman, Anna Trautenberg, Myrtle Walker and Ada Olmstead, the sole survivors of the Girls' Glee Club, also sang many humorous songs. Ronald Nye, the owner of a large hotel, and Dorothy Mansfield, the manager, with Arthur Simmons and John Johnson as bellhops enjoyed themselves fishing.

After a marshmallow roast given by the remnants of the Girls Service League consisting of Elsie Greening, the Poet Laureate, and Dorothy Lennon, the Great Opera Singer, and Helen Hyde, the class of '25 began to depart until only Norman Case and Berlen Wiles, the only rivals to George Fotch's heirloom, were left. And as for me I am a retired bank president. The Judge retired me for six years so I am sure of a home for a while.

MORSE R. STRINGHAM, '25.

Shipbuilders

CLASS POEM

Lo, we have built a ship :
The rough wild sea to plough,
The Captain's guiding hand,
Steers from our dear homeland.

Oh, staunch we build the ship,
With loyalty the prow,
And courage true as steel,
For ribs and strength for keel.

Aye, we have launched our ship,
Upon the ocean now.
God rules each hand and heart.
Each one must do his part.

Love's haven for our ship,
We'll find and keep our vow.
The journey shall be made,
In sun, no fear nor shade.

Full long may sail our ship,
For cargo teach us how,
To have no room within,
For black despair or sin.

Junior Class' 26

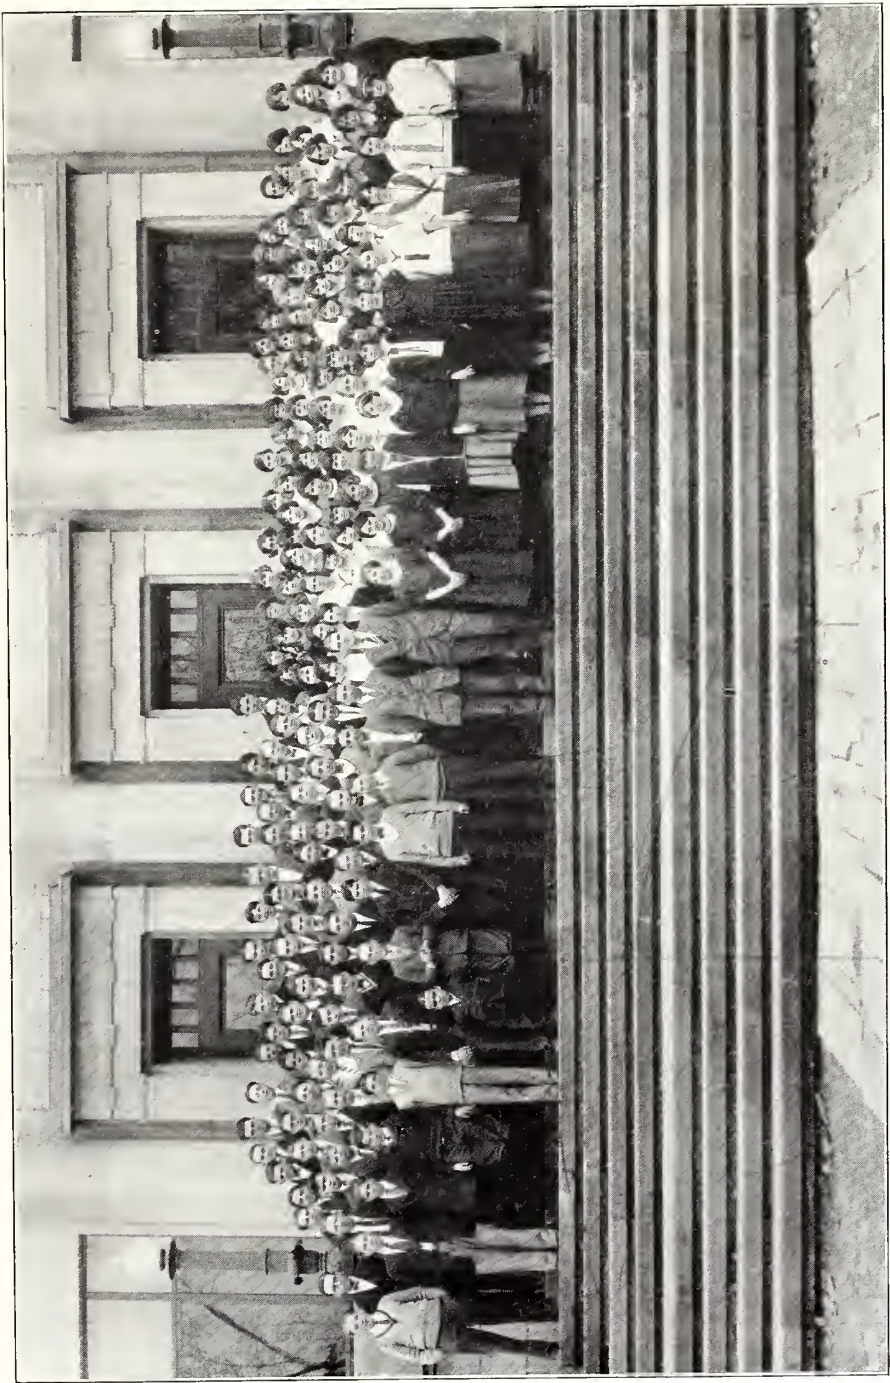

As leaders of the year 1925 the Juniors elected the following officers: President, Bernard X. Eichenger; vice-president, Claribel Sider; secretary, Gertrude Warren; treasurer, Kenneth Serve. Jeanette McAlpine, Frances McGrath, and John Luther were chosen as members of the Student Council of the G. O. Miss O'Meara and Miss Shepard are our faculty advisors, and greatly do we appreciate their efforts to help us over the hard spots of the school year.

We all had a very enjoyable time at the Junior Banquet which was held in the cafeteria of the High School, last January. The most important event, however, was the Junior Prom which was held February 20th, in the High School Gym. The Gym was very attractively decorated.

There is plenty of good stuff in this year's class, and as for next year, I think we have a fine chance of being one of the best Senior classes that B.H.S. has ever had.

G. W., '26.

CLASS OF 1926

Sophomores '27

At the beginning of September, the Freshmen Class returned very much enlightened as Sophomores.

The class then decided that they would like someone to guide them. We selected Frederick Wight, president; Gladys Goade, vice-president; Helen Fitzsimons, secretary, and Aloysius Slovick, treasurer. The class colors, green and white, were selected from last year's.

The annual banquet was held February 6th, in the High School Cafeteria. Philip Weiss was toastmaster. Everyone had an enjoyable time.

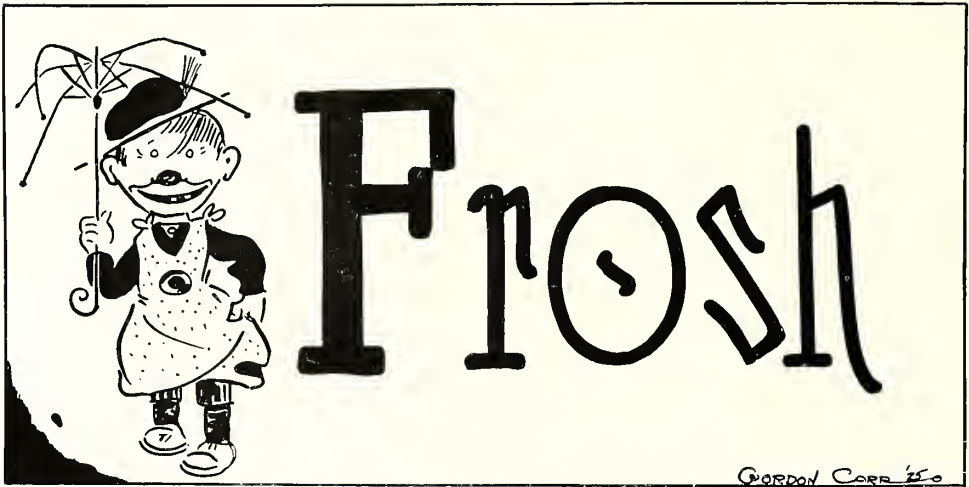

The Sophomores have proved their ability in various ways. We have headed the Honor Rolls several times, we have partaken in ticket selling contests and many other affairs.

It has been a very successful year for us, and we hope that the coming Sophomore class will have the same good luck.

Class of 1927

Freshman Class '28

Organized soon after the mid-year the class elected for its leaders: President, John McGettigan; vice-president, Margaret Young; secretary, Clare Eberhart; treasurer, Elmer Hampton, and Miss Cramer, social advisor to co-operate with Mrs. Douglass, the appointed advisor.

The motto "Resolve to Pass B.H.S. on Greater and not Less" was chosen. Also, the colors white and gold, were selected.

Though not formally organized until February, the Freshmen were not inactive during the fall months. On the contrary we made ourselves conspicuous by our good deeds.

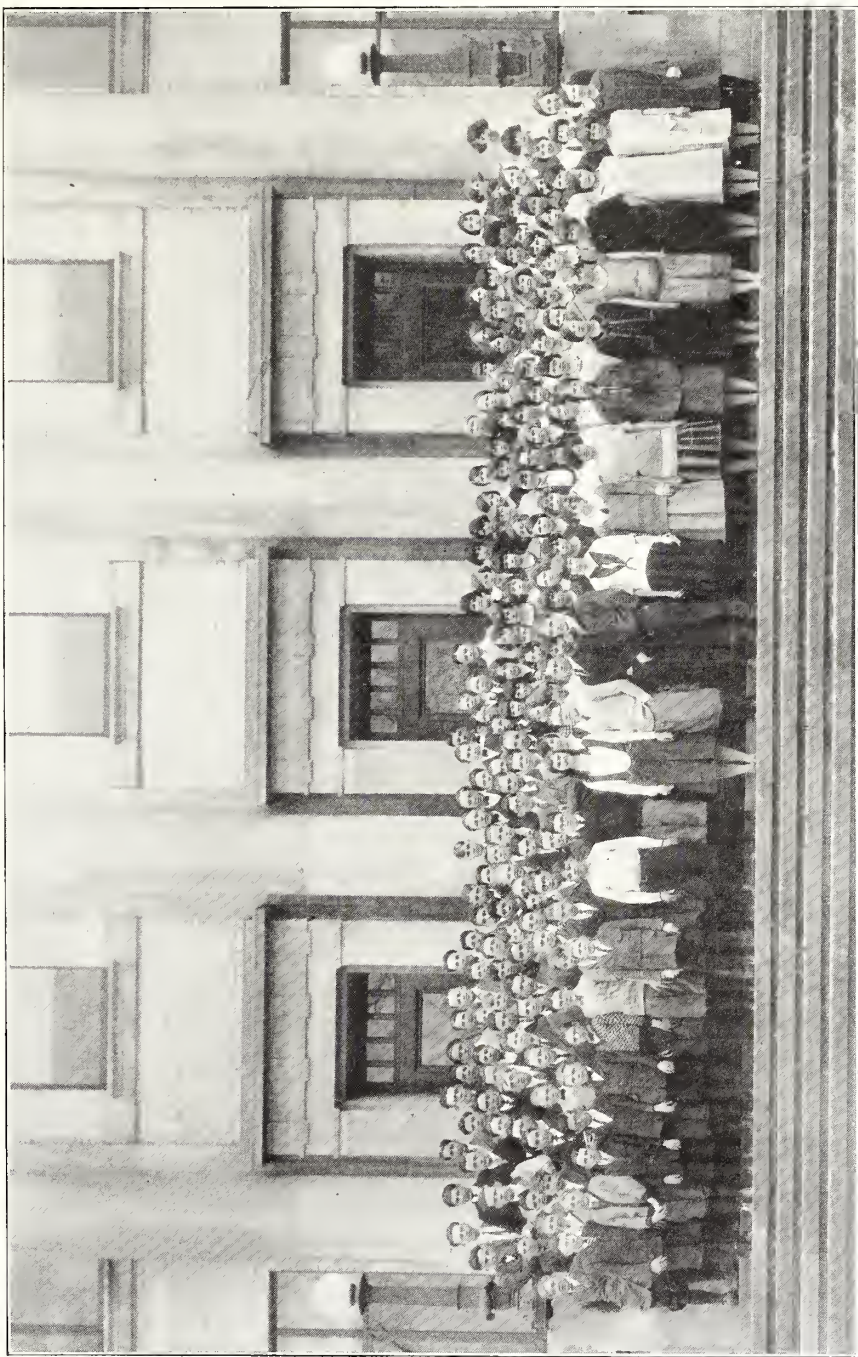

We won the G. O. moving picture award and thus were able to present to the school the wonderful replica of Abraham Lincoln. We have also proved our literary ability by the many stories contributed to the Picayune.

Also, we have won three prizes in the Lighting Contest, and in the Music Memory Contest which were real prominent.

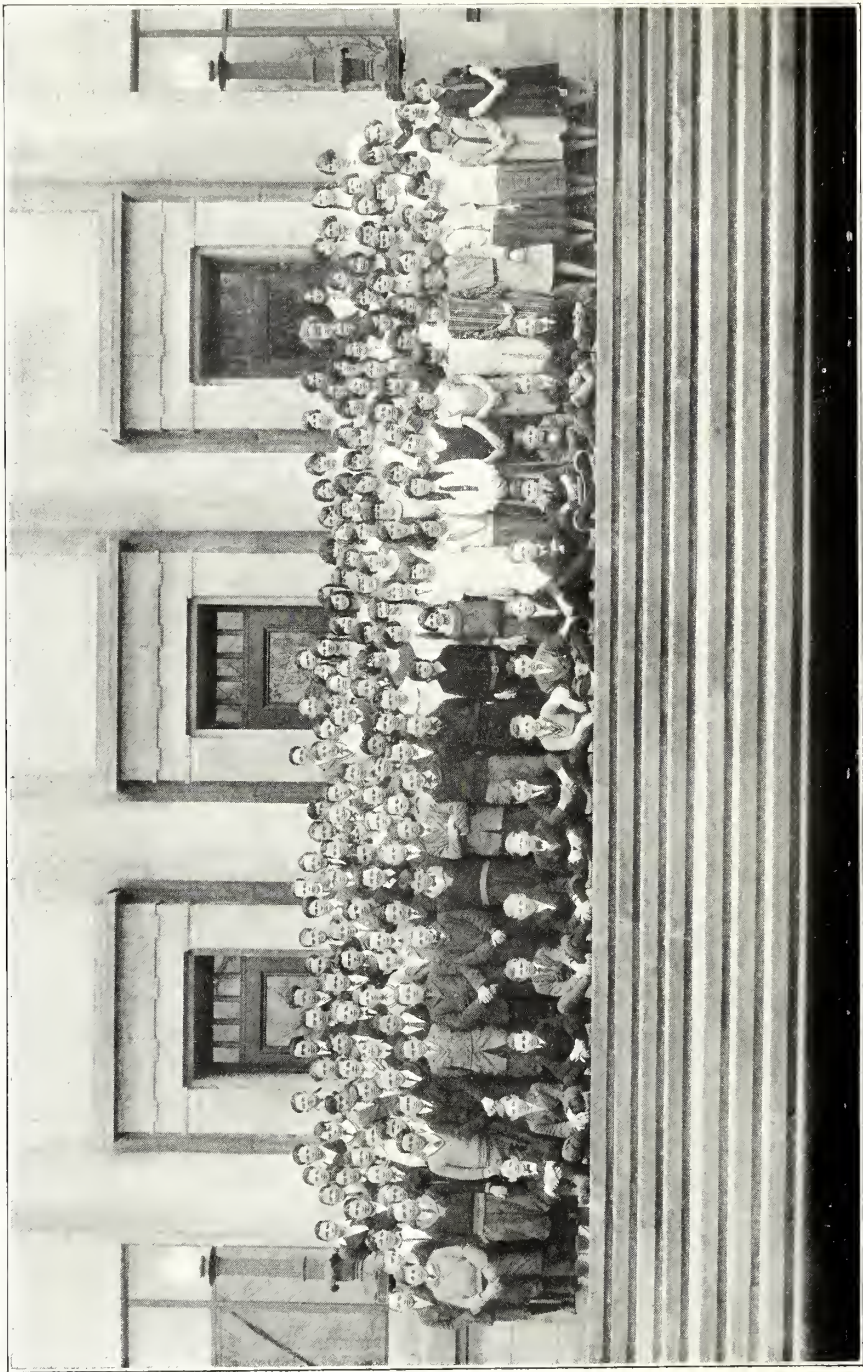

We have enjoyed various social functions. The Freshman Banquet was a real success.

Summarizing, the class feels as if it had a most profitable year. If the succeeding years are as successful, the choice of the Motto will be justified.

GENERAL ORGANIZATION COUNCIL

The General Organization

We in B.H.S. have something which very few schools in New York State have: Student participation in control of student activities.

It is far from an easy matter to work out all the details of a system like our General Organization, and to put it on a working basis. The ideal student-control of activities is not as simple as it sounds. For years Mr. Weber has been working toward it.

A year ago last fall, a committee consisting of Mr. Albright, Dorothy Darch, Merle Schneckenberger, Kenneth Brooks and Duncan Gordon, was appointed to work out a constitution and by-laws for an organization which should control all student activities. It was to have clearly defined the powers and duties and to take the place of the original Student Council.

The committee worked on it all last year and in May officially presented to the student body, for their consideration, the constitution and by-laws of the Batavia High School General Organization.

Knowing that the idea of student control of activities in secondary schools is only in the early stages of development and that it is sure to grow and perhaps change as different plans are tried out, the constitution was made very elastic. As new needs arise or better methods of organization are worked out, the constitution may be changed to fit them. The committee realized that it was only a beginning and growth and change are sure to come.

The students accepted the constitution by an overwhelming majority and last fall it was put into operation.

The very first step was the carrying out of the membership drive. Practically every student joined G. O. and this alone insured its success.

The next proceeding was the election of officers. Carl Wartusch was chosen by Mr. Weber to be chairman of the nominating convention. The excellent organization of this convention, the interest evinced by all the students in the election, the thoroughly business-like way in which it was conducted, will make it go down in the history of B.H.S. as one of its most interesting events.

Frank Hulburt, Gordon Carr, James Alger, Harris Gardner and Richard Graham were nominated for president and Helen Buhl and Myrtle Walker for vice-president. The student body elected also, three faculty members and each class its representatives to the executive council. Frank Hulburt and Helen Buhl were elected.

During the past school year, the executive council have accomplished much. They have granted charters to the Art Club, Debating Club, Glee Club, Service League and Panci Delecti. They took the necessary steps to make B.H.S. a member of the National Honor Society. They chose the Picayune staff and Annual board. They sent representatives to a journalistic conference. They have passed on all recommendations for awarding of "B's." All important decisions concerning the policy of the school in athletics were made by the council. They have, in brief, successfully exercised those powers given them by the constitution.

At the end of G. O.'s first year, it may be truthfully said that G. O. has been a success. In the coming years it will grow with the growth of the school. Batavia High School will stand among the progressive schools which recognize the value of student participation in all activities pertaining directly to students.

HONOR SOCIETY

The Honor Society

The Batavia Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized March 23, 1925.

The object of the Society is to promote Scholarship. The members are chosen from the quarter of the Senior Class with the highest scholarship, and not more than three-quarters of these may be elected. Besides scholarship, leadership and character are considered in electing a member. The members elected by a committee of teachers were: James Alger, Florence Bower, Ruth Blumerick, Gordon Carr, Harris D. Gardner, Betty Merriman, Marion Olsen, Marion L. Schneckenburger, Arthur Simmons, Margaret Timmens, Myrtle H. Walker.

At the first meeting, the Constitution was read, and the following officers were elected: President, Gordon Carr; Vice-President, Betty Merriman, and Secretary, Marion L. Schneckenburger.

As the Society has just begun, nothing beyond its organization has been accomplished. However, we hope that the Society will become a real factor in school life and that membership will be as much sought after as Athletic Honors.

PICAYUNE STAFF

The Picayune

One of the most successful years, both from the financial and literary point of view, in the history of the Picayune has been completed. It was the second attempt to put out a monthly edition which proved to work very successfully with only a catch here and there.

The staff tried as much as possible to make it a student publication, but found that free speech wasn't one of their prerogatives.

The Annual wishes to congratulate the Picayune staff for their writing efforts to make the paper the best ever, and extend their good wishes to the 1926 Picayune.

Junior-Senior High School Orchestra

At the beginning of the year, we convened and, according to the well-known parliamentary procedure, we wished the usual offices on the following long-suffering souls:

President	NORMAN HALL
Vice-President	CHARLES GENTNER
Secretary	BETTY MERRIMAN
Treasurer	JAMES ALGER
Librarian	CLAIR EBERHART

Under the excellent supervision of Mrs. Story, our conductor and special advisor in all affairs, we worked out a charter. We have not lived up to it yet because it has mysteriously disappeared. Since the G. O. has not passed judgment on it, we have no legal status. This accounts, in part, for the elusiveness of some of the members when we are supposed to appear, also for our imperviousness to threats of dire annihilation, and the propensity of some members to forget their instruments.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR ORCHESTRA (Combined)

The great service of an orchestra to a school has inspired the Junior High pupils to form a flourishing organization. Now that we have this beautifully spacious auditorium, we surely appreciate the soul-stirring harmony of an orchestra. Few can appreciate the patience and energy a successful performance represents.

In spit of our lack of enfranchisement, we are so far from being disembodied spirits that we boys remember with pleasure the two turkey dinners Mrs. Story has given us. The picture is of the Junior and Senior Orchestras combined.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING.

Orlando: What is a double flat?

Suozzi: A two-story building.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club has about thirty-five members. At our first meeting last fall, we elected the following officers: President, Jeannette McAlpine; Vice-President, Betty Merriman; Secretary and Treasurer, Elizabeth Fisher; Librarian, Mary Lucid; Assistant Librarian, Myrtle Walker.

Besides the regular Glee Club, we have a girls' double quartette of the following: Helen Buhl, Jeannette McAlpine, Viola Stakel, Betty Merriman, Mabel Homer, Mary Lucid, Dorothy Bills, Helen Hyde.

On February 18, 1925, the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs had a very successful banquet in the cafeteria, and enjoyed dancing afterward in the gymnasium. That night will long be remembered by those who were present because of the good time they all had. The Girls' Glee Club has been on the programs for a great many of the entertainments in the High School this year, besides rendering some of the musical numbers for the Music Memory Contest which was held April 2, 1925.

We have many good times at our Glee Club meetings. You know the old saying: "The more the merrier." Let's double the membership for another year.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Boys' Glee Club

The Boys' Glee Club has now a definite place in our High School course; not only along the line of delightful recreation, but it also ranks with other subjects in culture and regents credit.

This year, many "Frosh," and "Sophs" have joined the club, thus giving us good prospects for the future. The success of all school activities depends upon its budding material, therefore, in the next few years great success should be achieved in the Boys' Glee Club.

The Glee Club's banquet was the biggest and best ever. It was enjoyed by the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs, also by the orchestra. Harris D. Gardner acted as Toastmaster, and with the help of Mr. Wells, Mrs. Story and various other good speakers, impressed upon the clubs the value of good music.

The Boys' Glee Club was very fortunate this year in having for President, Roy Wickens, who has not only musical talent, but also ranks high in athletics.

Much credit also should be given to Mrs. Story, who has shown a great interest in the Boys' Glee Club and who gave unsparingly of her time and energy to make it a success.

HIGH SCHOOL (HI-Y) JAZZ ORCHESTRA

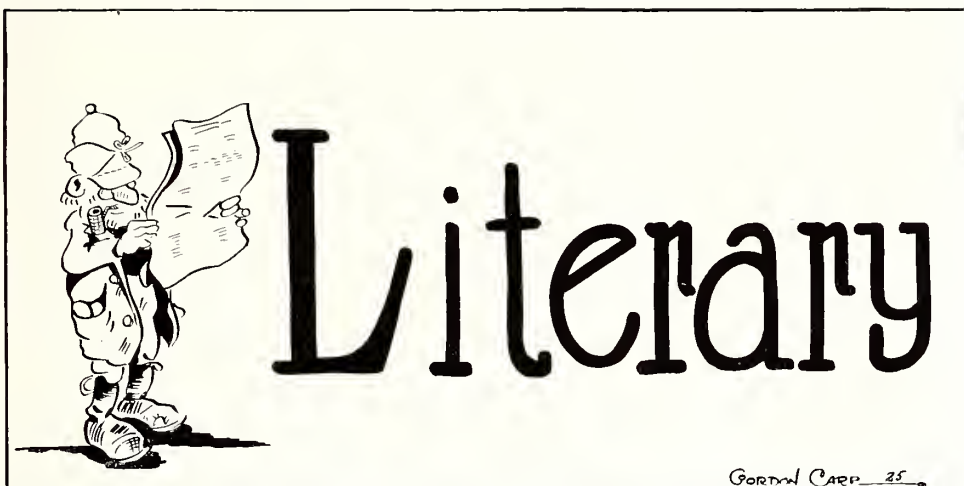

The Jazz Orchestra (Hi-Y Orchestra)

The Hi-Y Orchestra was formed soon after the club was under way. Frank M. Thomas was chosen leader. The members of the Orchestra are: Betty G. Merriman, Charles Gentner, Fritz Wight, Howard Richlin, Nicholas Orlando, Anthony Suozzi, Walter Stanley, William Gleason. W. S., '25.

DEBATING TEAM

High School Debating Teams

This year we have two debating teams. The affirmative team consisting of Richard Graham, Captain Chauncey Kibbe and Clair Lenihan defeated the Niagara Falls team at Niagara Falls in a debate on child labor.

On May 29th, the negative team, consisting of Harris Gardner, captain, Joseph Schmitt, and Lawrence Mulcahy will debate Niagara Falls at Batavia on the question of adoption of the proposed Twentieth Amendment.

HUNTLEY CONTESTANTS

Huntly Contest

Showing the results of hours of drilling under the competent tutelage of Miss O'Meara, ten silver-tongued orators representative of the true eloquent talent developed in B.H.S., delivered their speeches in the Huntley Oratorical Contest in our auditorium on March 6.

Chauncey S. Kibbe captured first honors, and a prize of $15 with his speech, "The New South." Harris D. Gardner was second and Vincent Murphy received honorable mention. Other speakers were: Joseph Schmitt, Richard Graham, Clair Lenihan, Howard Johnson, Paul Mooney, Lawrence Mulcahy and Leon Warden.

Let us hope that our loquacious representatives will ever uphold their principles with equal force from the pulpit, platform or stump, whatever their vocation may be.

Columbia Contest

Impassioned with the fever of debate to the extent of expounding proof after proof that child labor should remain under the control of the states rather than be under federal jurisdiction, Harris D. Gardner worked himself free under fire of three of the opposing contestants and won the preliminary to the Columbia Speaking Contest in the B.H.S. auditorium on February 27, 1925.

Harris didn't win a prize in the finals at New York, but he did argue his point effectively and brought honor to his school. It was the first time this preliminary has been held outside of Rochester.

Larkin Contest

Harris D. Gardner won the first award in the Larkin Speaking Contest on April 3, 1925, which placed Batavia High on the previous pinnacle of having won the first prize in this contest for the third successive year. Edward Rogerson of Le Roy took second and two Bergen representatives won the remaining premiums.

We fell certain that Chauncey Kibbe would have taken a high place had it not been for the ruling of the committee in balancing the awards between the major and minor schools of the county. Vincent Murphy also gave a stirring speech for Batavia.

Extemporaneous Contest

The public speaking contest entered into by our school this year reached a climax, when we proposed an entry for the extemporaneous contest held at Colgate university on Friday evening, May 22d. Seven speakers competed for the privilege of representing upper New York in the interstate contest to be held on the following evening. Richard Graham as winner of the contest attained this honor. Winning first place carried with it also a gold medal and a very fine plaque to adorn the walls of the Batavia High School.

In the interstate contest held on Saturday night, the 23d, Richard won second place and a scholarship of $75. As there were in this contest representatives from New York city, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, we are especially proud of the fact that our representative won this honor on the second evening. We hope to be able to continue in the future to send to Colgate speakers to uphold the name of Batavia in this very highest type of public speaking.

CONTESTANTS IN GIRLS' SPEAKING CONTEST

Girls' Speaking Contests

Quite similar to the Huntley Contest, the Girls' Local Contest held in the Batavia High School auditorium on November 3, 1924, drew a large crowd of attentive listeners, who showed approval of every speech by hearty applause.

Jeanette McAlpine won the contest in which eleven B.H.S. girls took part. Mary Virginia Graham was second and Eleanor Sherman third. Prize money totaling $15 is derived from Liberty bonds held by the school to sponsor this contest every year. It is our earnest wish that the girls of B.H.S. will continue to display their merits in feminine contests. In married life the first essential is to get the upper hand and keep it. Practice in speaking will help to settle all arguments finally.

All who heard Jeanette McAlpine at Le Roy November 7, 1924, in the Girls' Larkin Contest admitted by their applause that Batavia High had another representative in speaking circles that was almost invincible.

On April 24, 1925, Jeannette McAlpine had the honor of representing our school in the National Oratorical contest in Buffalo. There, she was faced by opposition from all sections of the state and though not the winner she left a deep impression of her speaking ability on the minds of her listeners.

The Camerata Nuova contest was this year to be held at the State School for the Blind. Jeanette McAlpine, Mary Virginia Graham and Eleanor Sherman were to compose the B.H.S. trio to compete May 29th with a State School girls' team with the full regalia of oratorical armament in defense of the loving cup won last year from their opponents.

In order to win the cup for permanent possession, a team must win the contest for three successive years. Having won the trophy last year for one year's retention, the Blue and White already has a strong hold on it. It is our wish to see the B.H.S. team get a stronger grasp this year to win permanent possession of the silver premium in the contest next Spring.

DEBATING CLUB

The Debating Club

In the fall of 1924, about eighteen boys met in the school library to consider organizing a debating club. After much discussion the group chose as a club name the Vigilantes. Lawrence Mulcahy was elected president, Chauncey Kibbe vice-president, Richard Graham secretary, and John Luther treasurer. Miss O'Meara is faculty adviser. At irregular intervals the club has met and discussed questions of local, state, and national interest. As this goes to print, plans are being formulated to make our club a chapter of the newly organized National Forensic Society of America. The members of this year's club will be charter members.

GIRLS' SERVICE LEAGUE

Senior Girls' Service League

Early in the fall a group of Senior girls decided to form a club with the novel and original idea of being primarily a club for Service. The idea spread which resulted in seventeen charter members. Miss Lydia L. Godfrey and Miss Marion H. Short were chosen for faculty advisors. Later, feeling the need of another congenial faculty aid, Miss Marion A. Ward became an advisor. A pin was selected and the club started out on its campaign of usefulness.

Who will forget the Fashion Show put on by the girls? Each girl as she displayed her clothes left the desired effect with her audience, which hasn't disappeared yet, (we hope)! More names were added to the membership list and during the winter thirty-six girls were visible selling candy, eskimo pies, serving refreshments to the teams, and checking hats and coats at the basketball games. Ushering was such a favorite occupation that many of the girls began to hand out programs in their sleep.

For the Le Roy game students were given the opportunity to purchase banners, caps, armbands, etc. to adorn themselves with, and which contributed something to the game. The Senior League has sponsored the organization of a Junior Girls' Service League in the Junior High School which is doing good work.

Some new members have been taken in and we now have forty-four members of whom probably thirty-five will be left to carry on next year's work. The Seniors of the League wish the girls as good a year as we have had this year and with the support of the School, will continue to extend a helping hand.

GAINSBOROUGH ART CLUB

The Gainsborough Art Club

An Art Club was established early in the school year on October 29, 1924. A constitution and by-laws were drawn up, and officers were elected as follows: President, Agnes Corey; vice-president, Catherine Cornwell; secretary, Dorothy Netzen; treasurer, Elowene Barber; reporter, Ethel Mann, advisor, Miss A. Watt. Then the secretary and reporter having left school, Eunice Moore was appointed secretary and Sarah Gardner, reporter. The club was named after the famous artist Gainsborough. The aim of the club is to increase our own knowledge of art and to promote interest in it throughout the school.

The first project taken up was work for a sale to be held in December. A great variety of useful and decorative articles were made to be sold. Refreshments were also sold and the sale was even more successful than was expected. The money was to be used to buy a statue for the school.

On January 26, 1925, the art club gave a party for the Senior Girls' Service League. A program was presented and a supper was served in the art room. Later the girls danced in the music room and all had a fine time.

On April 10, 1925, an assembly was put on by the art club. The members posed as the characters of famous paintings. The other features were a dialogue of colors and a ballet of colors. Agnes Corey, the president, then presented the statute of Minerva to the school and it was accepted by Principal Weber. The assembly was closed by singing the club song.

SENIOR HI-Y CLUB

Hi-Y Club

Early in December, 11 High School fellows representing the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes met with General Secretary C. F. Hosmer of the Y.M.C.A. to re-organize the Hi-Y club which had been disbanded since 1920.

The first regular weekly supper meeting was held December 18th when the following officers were elected: President, Gordon Carr, '25; vice-president, Lawrence Winslow, '25; secretary, John Johnson, '25; treasurer, Frank Thomas, '25, and cheer leader, Harris Gardner, '25. Numerous committees were appointed to promote the varied activities of the club.

Practical talks, open forum discussions, group singing and music by the club's excellent 10 piece orchestra were enjoyed at the meetings. The initial social function was a theatre party at the New Family, Thursday evening, March 5th, when ninety club members and their girl friends, occupied the loges and boxes.

On March 26th the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John Luther, '26; vice-president, Harris Gardner, '25; secretary, Gerald Tuttle, '27; assistant secretary, Wallace Stakel, '27; treasurer, Howard Munsey, '27; assistant treasurer, Donald Sutherland, '26.

The purpose of the Hi-Y Club is, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character," and the slogan is "A Clean Standard in Living, in Speech, in Athletics and in Scholarship."

JUNIOR HI-Y CLUB

The Junior Hi-Y club has the same objectives as the Hi-Y club, the membership being composed of Sophomores, Freshmen and Junior high school boys instead of upper class men. This is one of the few clubs of the kind in New York State. It was formed by General Secretary Hosmer of the Y.M.C.A., Coach L. R. Pierce is the club leader. The club has weekly supper-meetings at the "Y" with good speakers and interesting special features. Mothers of the members prepare the menus and the Junior Service League girls of the High School serve.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL CLUB

CAST AND HELPERS OF "THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST"

“The Importance of Being Earnest”

By Class of 1926

A first appearance has a thrill of its own, but we attempted a return engagement of the play given by the class of 1917, the only class that had no Batavian, but who contributed the proceeds of the play to the War fund. Added to the responsibility by such never-to-be-forgotten players as Mildred Mathes and Francis Casey was the necessity of keeping up an English atmosphere with all its stiff indulgence and austerity of manner that, after all, covers up feelings just as human as those of the most modern of our flappers and sheiks.

The privilege of rehearsing during the vacant periods of regular school hours and behind the ample rose curtain left the audience wondering what to expect and ready to be entertained.

The two audiences were appreciative of every hit made in the sparring repartee.

The stage crew shook off their awe of the towering scenery, rushed hither and yon, lashed wildly the perverse ropes, faded away, and parted the silken folds to reveal “Algeron” (our genial Murphy) expressing all the indolent ease of the nobility (English for idle rich). The dignified entrance of Lane (“Hriam” Johnston) started the fun. Jack (“Larry” Winslow) next appeared and so deadly in earnest was he that he kept the audience highly amused. It was a relief to find that he really was “Earnest” after all. “Ye Gods and little fishes!” There was nothing lacking to the English atmosphere of the dominating Lady Bracknell (Ada Olmstead) and her beautiful daughter Gwendolyn (Catherine Cornwell). The ingenue Cecily was convincingly played by “Honey” Lester, much to everyone’s delight. However, both girls successfully vamped those English shieks according to all the rules of the game, even though it was done a la Victorian. Miss Prism (our versatile Zada Newcomb) very evidently stepped out of one of Dickens’s books. She was very easily wound about her pupils’ finger whenever she saw through the scheme in time to agree. The Right Reverend Dr. Chausable (Leon Warden) literarily brought the house down.

The rapid succession of the most contradictory plans and orders did not disturb in the least the sang-froid of the butler Merriman (“Walt” Joy).

The members of the cast thank the director, Miss O’Meara, for all her help; and also wish to express their appreciation of the artistic services of the Misses Watt, Godfrey, and Stevens.

The performance came up to all the premonitory thrills to the greatest satisfaction of all concerned. The specialties by Alice Chappel, Agnes Corey and R. Dwight Betts were cleverly original.

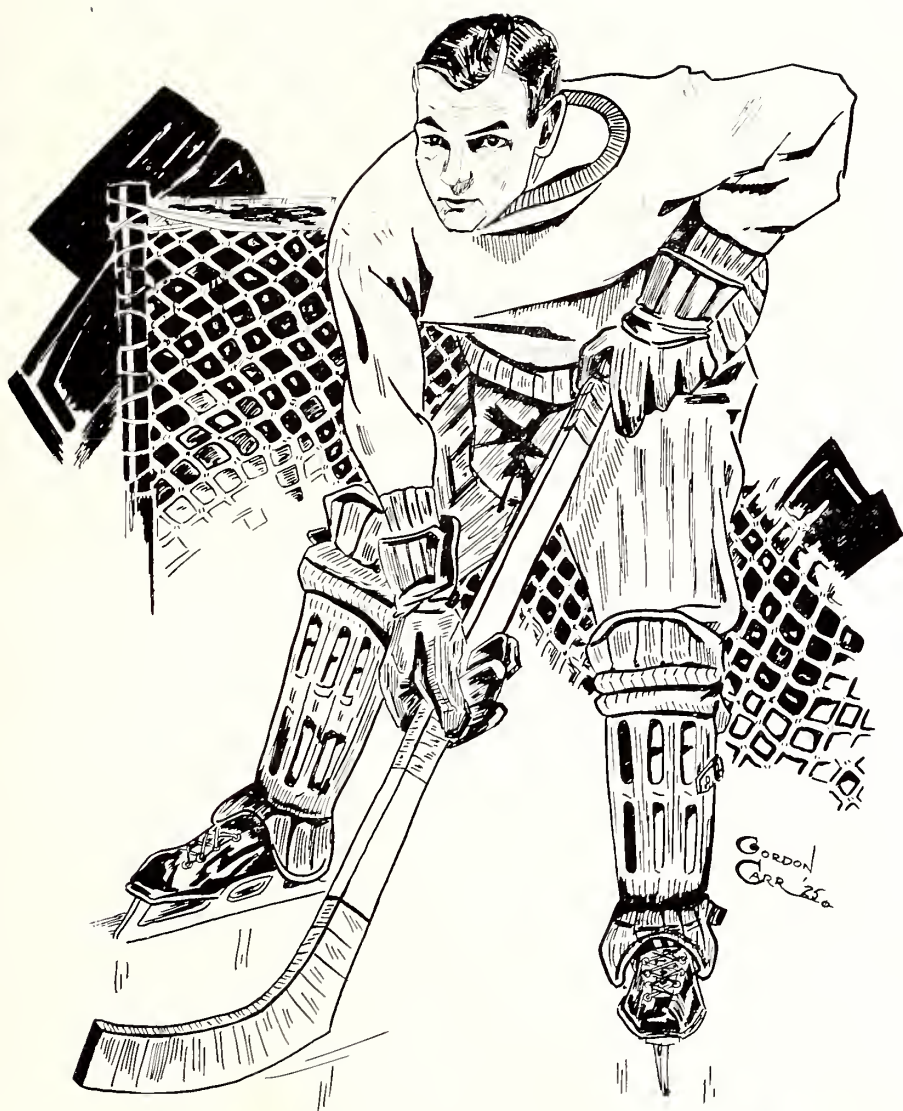

FRESHMEN NEWSPAPERS' CLUB

There is one thing which we expect to do for the school, and that is to compile a Scrap Book containing a chroniclized history of the school. Mr. Wells presented the Class with the Scrap Book, and the News Gatherers are going to put it together.
M. D., '25.

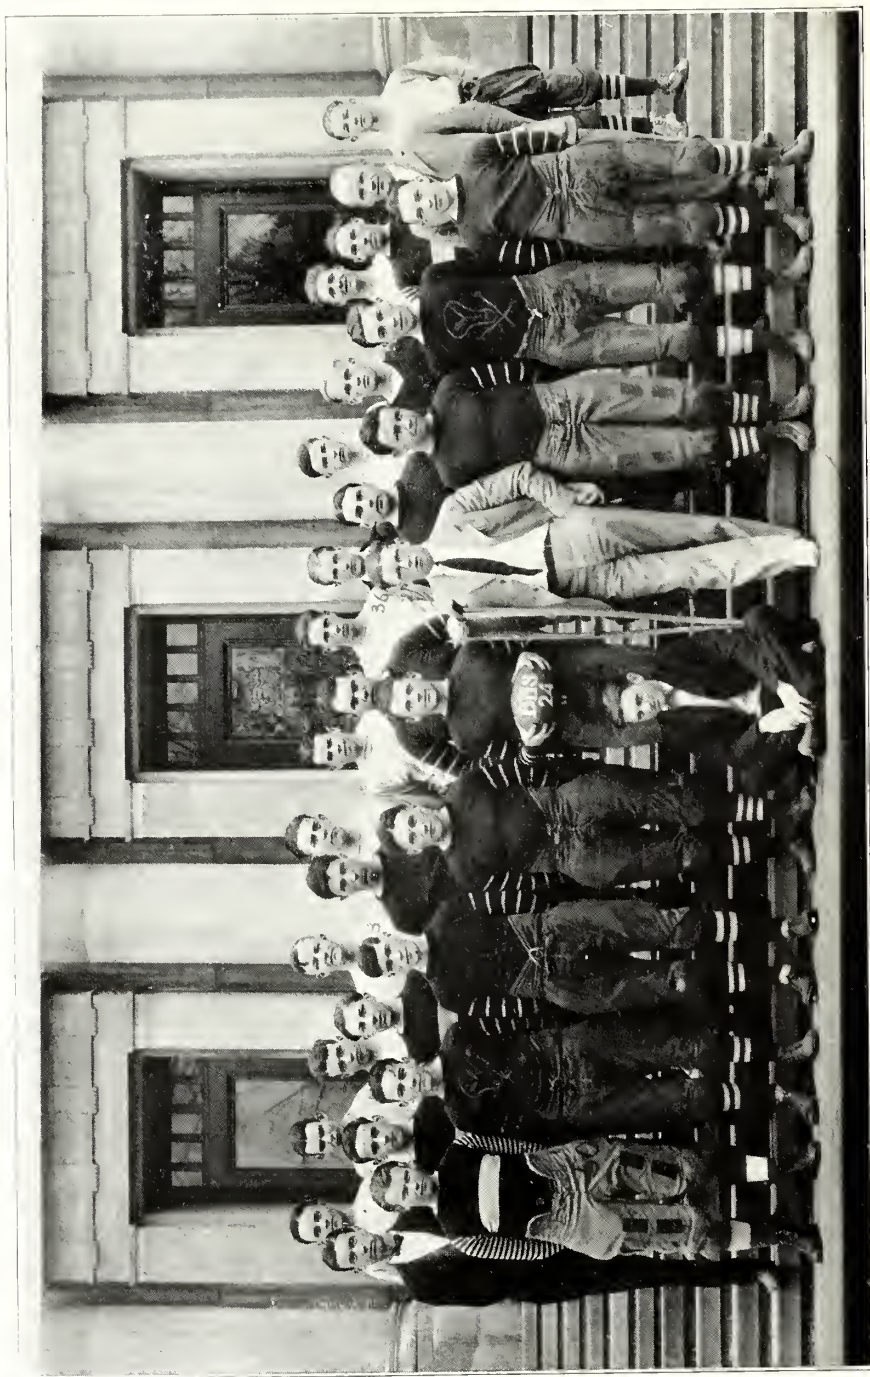

JUNIOR GIRLS' SERVICE LEAGUE

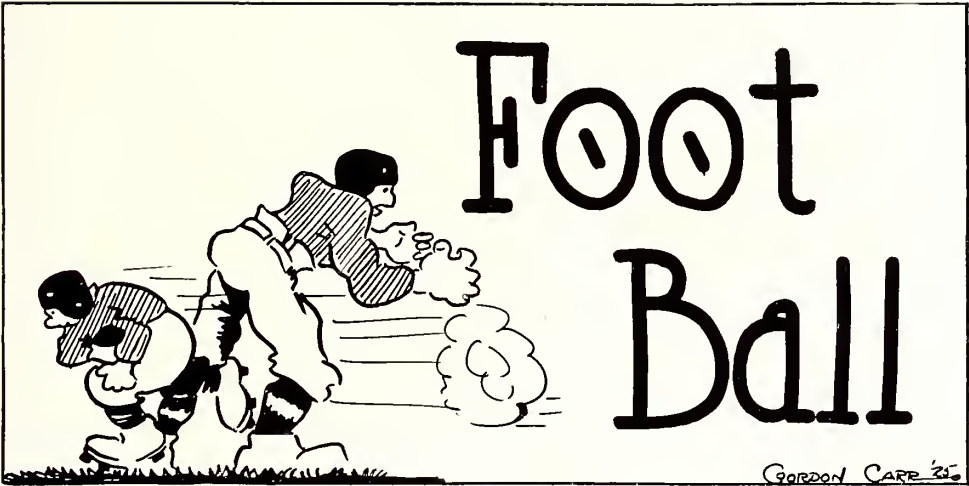

At last we have that long hoped for organization in Junior High. The Service League for the Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Football

Football, in schools and colleges, is synonymous of fair play and good sportsmanship. In the season just passed, as well as in all preceding seasons, the clean play and good sportsmanship of the Blue and White team were well spoken of by opponents and spectators, alike.

It is the general opinion that in order to have a successful season a team must win a majority of the games played. From this standpoint the B.H.S. team did not enjoy a very successful season.

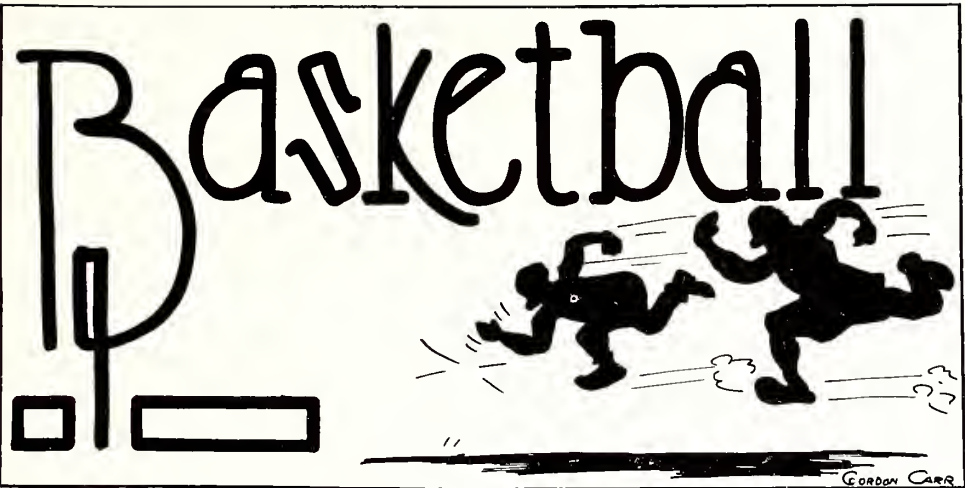

Coaches Pierce and Hamilton soon rounded a fast moving team into shape, and from all outward appearances the team had a bright future ahead of it. The line was charging with vim and the backfield was charging through the line and sweeping around the ends in a manner that greatly pleased the followers of the destinies of the Blue and White team.

In the first two games of the season the team lived up to all expectations, winning handily in each game. The first game avenged the defeat of 1923 by the Albion team. The 1923 Griffith Institute defeat was avenged in the second game of the season at Austin Park. The backfield, composed of Hulburt at quarterback, Wickens and Walters at the half-backs, and Noonan at fullback, scored almost at will, piling up a safe lead in the early stages of the games and then giving way to the substitute backfield men who always acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner.

October 18th, however, saw the end of the fine playing that won the first two games of the season. Two defeats were suffered in quick succession one at the hands of Dunkirk; the other at the hands of Niagara Falls. Another victory was forthcoming on November 1st and Dansville was sent home defeated.

For the rest of the season the Blue and White was forced to bow its head in defeat not because its opponent was a far superior team but because Fate had decreed that the Blue and White should not taste the fruits of Victory.

Much credit has been given the team for the great courage displayed in the Le Roy game after that fateful first play that robbed the team of one of its most valuable players and hung a terrible threat over the heads of all the players.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

Boys' Basketball

Basketball is rapidly becoming the most popular athletic contest in which the Blue and White teams participate. Fine support was accorded the team at nearly every game. However, there are exceptions to all rules and at times when support was needed badly, it was found to be lacking, especially in spirit.

Only four of last year's men reported for the first practice. These four had never played together on the same team and it was very difficult for them to get started in team-work.

A glance at the "Won and Lost" column shows that B.H.S. did not enjoy a very successful season, but continuing down the schedule of games one sees that the last game of the season was won over the Black and Red team from Le Roy. This fact alone helps to console the fans in the poor showing that the team made in the R.P.I. league.

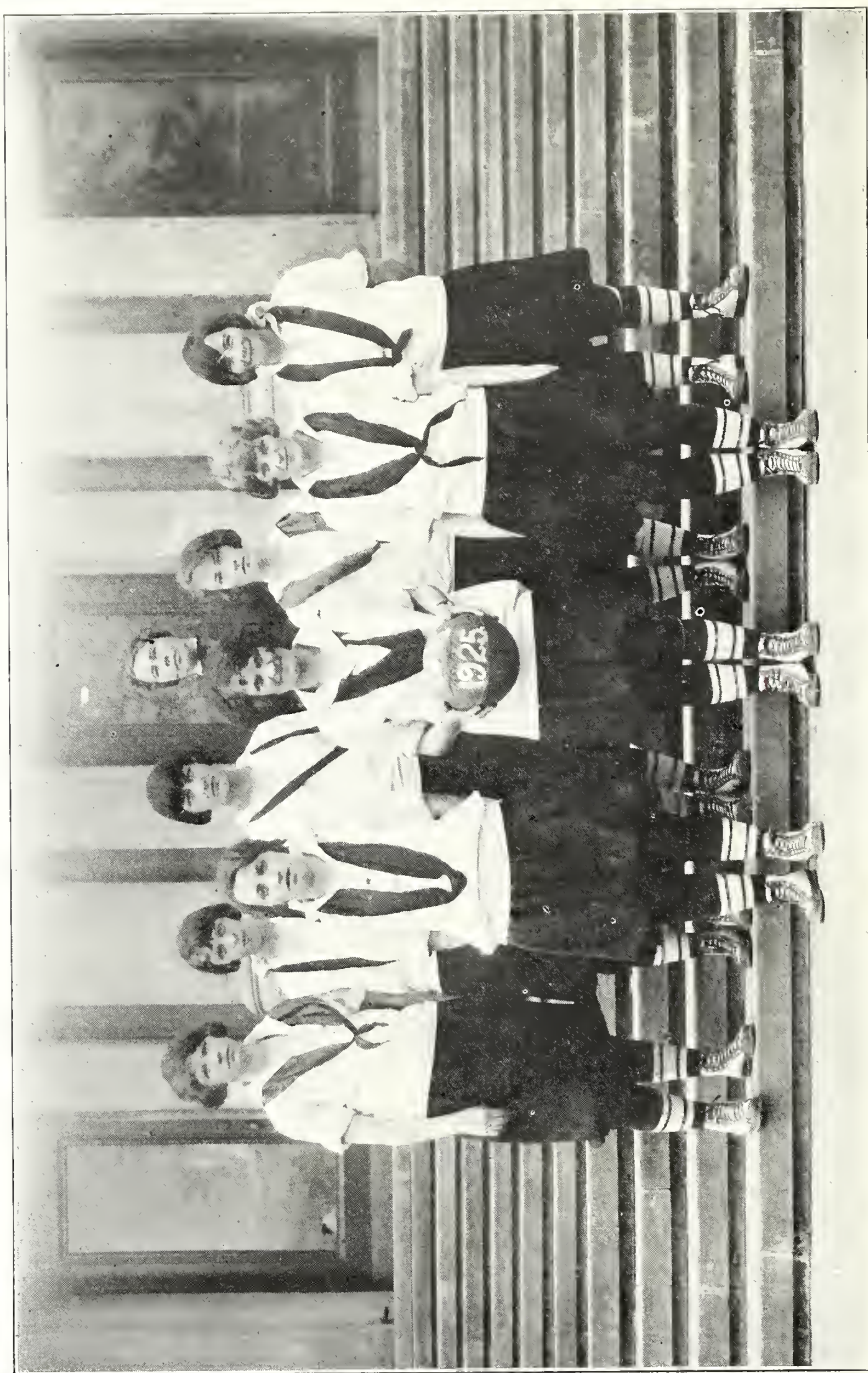

Although no victories were forthcoming from their efforts in the R.P.I. Cup League, the Blue and White team gave some of the leading teams of the League a very fast, closely played game, sometimes leading in the first half only to be overcome by the stamina and experience of their much older opponents.

Johnnie Luther and McCurdy were the leading scorers, with Captain Morehouse not very far behind them. Latham and Wickens carried the brunt of the defense.

March 20th, 1925, was the big day of the Basketball season for the Blue and White Team. On that date, a hard-fighting Blue and White team keyed up for the occasion, won a keenly contested game from the old rival, Le Roy, thus avenging the football defeat meted out to our boys by the Red and Black team last fall. Le Roy came, saw and went away, conquered. They came with every expectation of continuing their winning streak over the B.H.S. which started last spring when they defeated our baseball team at Austin Park, which was continued by the football victory.

To prepare for future years in basketball a freshman team coached by William E. Winters was put on the floor. They came out on top in nearly all the games they played, and with experience they will form a team of which the B.H.S. can justly be proud.

Coach Roy Wickens is in no small way responsible for the splendid showing of the Junior High team.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

Girls' Basketball

Perhaps one reason why the gym was always crowded with spectators was that the girl's team was so good. B.H.S. can be justly proud of this combination of goal-tossers, because it has been said of them that they were the fastest girls' team in Western New York.

To Miss Garlough, the coach, much credit must be given. However, the girls themselves are to be praised as they always showed fine spirit no matter whether they were winning or losing.

For the first time in two years the hoodoo that Oakfield has held over the Blue and White girls was broken. The Gypsum village girls were completely outclassed throughout the game.

The B.H.S. team was at its best during the last two games of the season. Medina was buried under an avalanche of field-baskets. On March 20th the Le Roy girl's team came with expectations of an easy victory. It was an easy victory to be sure, only it did not agree with the Le Roy plans. Gert Knapp, Florence Ball and Honey Lester took turns at rolling the score up with Captain MacDonald and Helen Buhl taking care of the Le Roy forwards with apparently no effort. The fast, clever pass-work of the Batavia girls completely bewildered the Red and Black girls.

Dorothy Volz and Mary Lucid could always be depended upon when substituted, Miss Volz being a forward and Miss Lucid a guard. The following earned their letters:

VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM

Baseball

The baseball season has started with a rush, games having been won from the City nine and also from the Albion high school. William Sherman, third string pitcher last season, has pitched and won his first two starts this season and shows promise of winning consistently for the Blue and White.

Roy Wickens and Joe Schmitt are the only last year's letter men on the team this season. Wickens is bearing the brunt of the receiving while Schmitt is holding down his regular position in left field. McCurdy, first base; Morehouse, second; Captain Sutherland, shortstop, and Davison on third make up a comparatively balanced infield. Ware, Kleps, Myers and Dargusch play in the outfield alongside of Schmitt. Dargusch, Martin and Latham complete the staff of pitchers, while Carr and Tuttle assist Wickens on the catching staff.

Wickens is the leading hitter to date having an average well over .500. His hitting featured the Albion game, when he crashed out two screeching triples to send in three runs each time.

We wish to thank the students for their hearty co-operation, and I wish to thank the other cheer leaders for their hearty co-operation in getting the cheers across. Here's to greater achievements next year.

HARRIS D. GARDNER, '25.

TRACK TEAM

Track

Coach William E. Winters is bending every effort toward the production of a fast track team. He has some splendid material to work with. Captain Gorecki, Latham, Luther, Gehring and Strong are the only letter men returning from last year's team. One of the hardest schedules in the school's history has been arranged by Manager George Corbett. Various schools reputed for their track ability have been placed on the Blue and White schedule. The big meet of the year for Batavia tracksters comes on Decoration Day, when the schools of Section XII will compete at Exposition Park.

Following is the schedule arranged for this season :

May 8—Hutchinson High of Buffalo at Batavia. Dual meet.

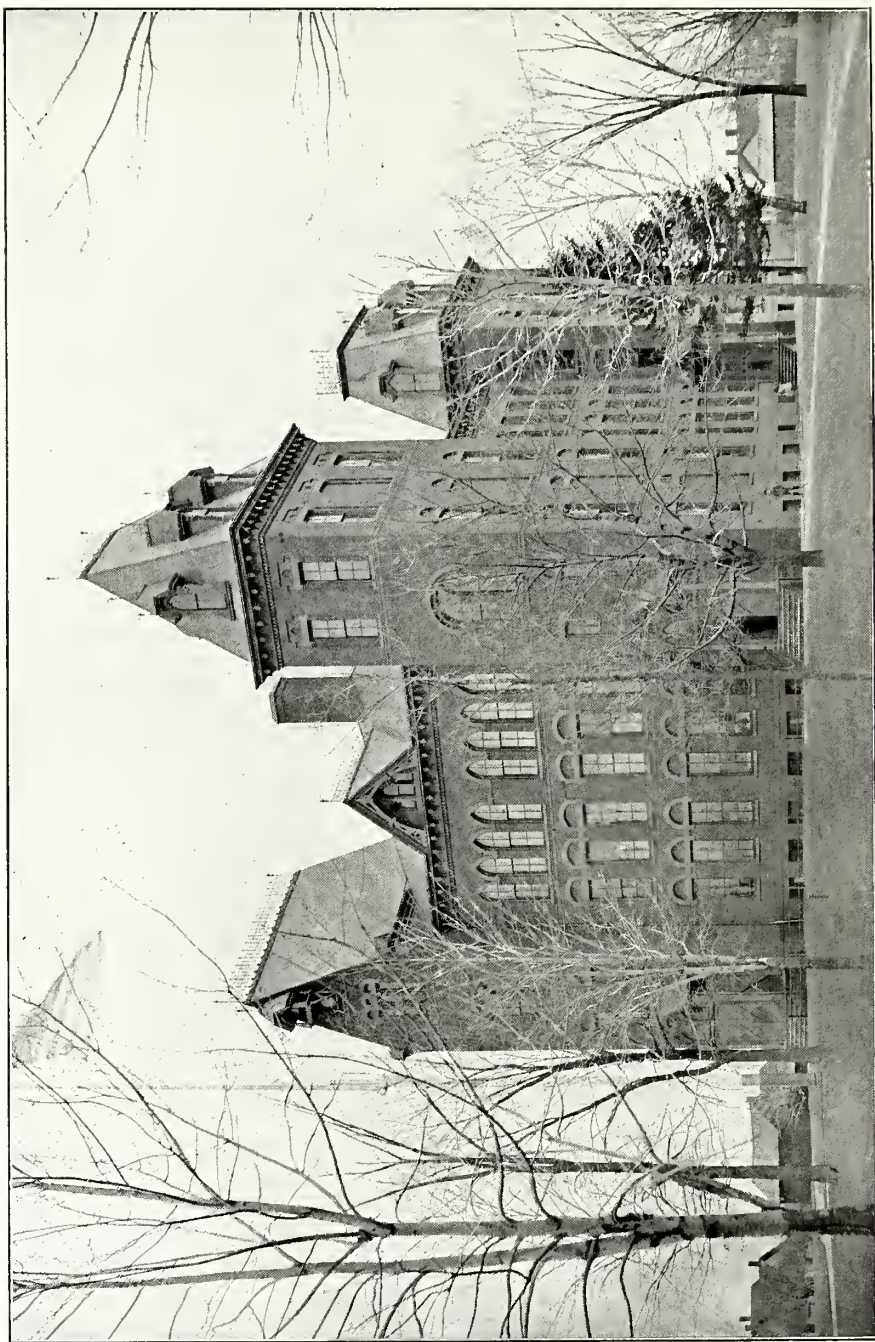

May 15—Lockport at Lockport. Dual meet.

May 23—North Tonawanda at North Tonawanda. Triangular meet.

May 30—Sectional meet at Exposition Park.

June 13—At Lockport. Sectional meet.

On June 7th, the State meet, to which the winners of each event in the sectional meets all over the state are sent to compete, will be held at Ithaca.

Batavia High School Alumni

Acknowledgement

The members of the Staff wish to express their appreciation of the help given them by the Librarians, The Daily News, many Alumni, and one and all who have made this Alumni section possible.

Securing the desired information has been very difficult, and in some cases it has been impossible. Errors have undoubtedly crept into this section, but to the best of our knowledge it is authentic. The names have been printed with space to add whatever comes to the owner of the book.

As the years go by we hope that this feature may add to the value of the "Batavian."

Pearly Everlasting

Dear Sister:
You sent across the water
To us who stayed at home,
A little fern picked near Dove Cottage,
Some lavender from Stratford,
And heather from old Scotland.
We look at them and think
Of Wordsworth, Shakespeare, Burns,
But most of her who sent them.
I send to you, with love, this sprig
Of Pearly Everlasting, picked today.
Think, when you see it, of our trips
Together in late August,
To Perry's gulf and nearby woods.
Just now the golden rod is blooming;
Here's Queen Anne's lace and jewel weed,
Ripe Choke-cherries gleaming in the sun; ;
And there's a wild-grape vine,
Filled with black clusters of the bitter fruit.
We pass through oatfields, in and out
Between the stooks of curing oats.
A woodchuck scared at our approach,
Hastens to cover. A grey squirrel
Frisks across a fallen tree-trunk.
And at our very feet, a pheasant
Feasting on wheat-heads left behind,
Flies noisily away.
We hunt for mandrake apples,
For ginseng roots,
But finding none, we dig a fern;
And gather boneset, spearmint,
To be prepared for ills
That come with winter winds.
Emerging from the woods,
Into the quiet fields,
We look, time and again,
Across the Tonawanda valley, saying,
"Pretend that this is Switzerland,
And that high hill is Jungfrau."
Great is our admiration and our local pride.
Then to remind you
Of your home and loved ones dear,
I pick this sprig of
Pearly Everlasting.

August 26, 1923.

George M. Weimar.

George M. Weimar was graduated from B.H.S. in 1900. The occasion of writing the above poem, Pearly Everlasting, was that his sister, Doctor Pauline Weimar, was traveling in the British Isles and sent home a piece of fern from near Dove Cottage, the home of Wordsworth, some lavender from Stratford, the home of Shakspeare, and some heather from Scotland to remind the home people of Burns. In return the poet sent her a sprig of Everlasting from the Tonawanda valley to remind her of home.

ADS

Napoleon (talking to Adam over the phone): You know Adam, my folks are very poor. I ran away from home when I was a kid. When I made my pile, I thought that I should do something for them. After some deliberation, I sent them a bathtub. Two days later I received this telegram from home:

"Dear Napoleon, received your gift, sure is a beaut, please send the oars."

—o—

Mr. Comfort: "What is water used for?"

L. Winslow: "It's used for padding between a boat and the land."

—o—

V. Murphy (translating in Virgil): "Three times I tried to put my arm around her neck. Three times—and that's as far as I got."

Miss Humm: "I should think that was quite far enough."

—o—

He: "Why do blushes creep over girls' faces?"

She: "Because if they ran they would kick up too much dust."

—o—

Father: "I see by the gasoline tank you didn't get very far last night."

Son: "Well, father, I'm not complaining."

—o—

"I hear your doctor is quite a rough character."

"Yes, he's the village cut-up."

—o—

Father: "That young man of Catherine's is simply impossible; he absolutely won't be sat on."

Young Brother: "Oh, yes, he will. Ask Catherine."

—o—

Alex: "Oh, Leon, you English are so slow."

Leon: "Er—I'm afraid I don't grasp you."

She: "That's just it."

—o—

"What would you call a man who hid behind a woman's skirts?"

"A magician."

—o—

Ed: "Going to have dinner anywhere tonight?"

Win (eagerly): "Why, no, not that I know of."

Ed: "Say, you'll be awfully hungry by morning."

—o—

Norman Case: "How's the chicken today?"

Waitress: "Fine, how's yourself."

—o—

Dwight Betts chugged painfully up to the race track. The gatekeeper, demanding the usual fee for parking space, called out:

"One dollar for the car."

"Sold," cried Dwight with a sigh of relief.

—o—

Overheard in 111: "A fine stenog you'll make. Call yourself a typist and don't even know how to put a ribbon in a typewriter."

Response: "Well, does Paderewski know how to tune a piano?"

IN YE OLD RED SCHOOL HOUSE.

Teacher (during visit of inspector): "Jimmie, who signed Magna Carta?"

Jimmie: "Not I, Teacher."

Teacher: "Be seated."

Inspector: "Call that boy back. I don't like his manner. I believe he did do it."

—O—
A TRAGEDY.

She laid the still, white form beside those that had gone before. No groan, no sigh from her. Suddenly she let forth a cry that pierced the still air, making it vibrate into a thousand echoes. It seemed to come from the very depths of her soul. Twice the cry was repeated, and then all was quiet again. She would lay another egg tomorrow.

—O—
A good punishment for some of our present day reformers would be to buy them a seat in the front row for the Follies and then blindfold them.

—O—
"What's so funny?"

"I was just thinking, ha! ha! if—

"Yes, yes?"

"Moses had dropped the slate and broken the Ten Commandments."

—O—
Prof. (to student who has placed his feet on the bench in front of him):

"Take your feet down, please, so I can see what you look like."

The student complies.

Prof.: "That's sufficient. Put them back up, please."

—O—
Voice on 'phone: John Smith is sick and can't attend classes today. He requested me to notify you.

Miss Dart: Who is this speaking?

Voice: This is my roommate.

—O—
Russian (being marched out at 4 a. m. through rain and sleet, by Bolsheviks to be executed): "This is awful mean of you to march me out in weather like this."

Leader: "You ought to pity us; we've got to march back."

—O—
An Englishman and a Yankee were arguing about the speed in which their insurance companies paid their policies.

Englishman: "A man died in London and his wife received a check in the next mail."

Yankee: "That's nothing. Our company is located on the fifth floor of a thirty-story building. A man fell off the roof the other day and we handed him his check when he passed by our window."

—O—
A Mormon is a man with an exaggerated idea of his capacity.

—O—
"Where's your mother these days, Tom?"

"Gone 'to Bagdad."

"That's strange. I didn't know he'd run away."

The head of a large firm, while passing through the packing room, observed a boy lounging lazily on a box of goods and whistling cheerily. The chief stopped and looked at him.

"How much do you get a week?"

"Ten dollars."

"Then here's a week's pay; now clear out."

"When did we hire that boy?" the chief inquired.

"Never," was the reply. "He just brought a note from another firm."

—o—

"Hell's Bells!" exclaimed the student as his alarm went off.

—o—

"When my mother was three years old, she fell from a third story window."

"Did she die?"

—o—

Frosh: "It says here that two months ago a couple in Brooklyn had triplets and now they have twins."

Soph: "How's that?"

Frosh: "One of the triplets died."

—o—

"Holy Smoke," cried the cannibal as the cook fried the missionary.

—o—

"Now we're approaching that long tunnel. You're not afraid, sweetheart?"

"Not at all dear, if you only take that cigar out of your mouth."

—o—

Ada Olmstead: "Life is just one fool thing after another."

Leslie Edgerton: "Yes. And love is just two fool things after each other."

—o—

Florence (on a sleigh-ride with W—): "Stop this instant or I'll get out and walk."

W—: "But Flo—"

Florence: "You needn't explain; a person who would do that is no gentleman."

W—: "But Flo, this darned horse won't go unless I whip him."

—o—

William Southworth: "What's that grating noise I hear?"

Duke Salisbury: "Oh, that's the Seniors filing down the aisle."

—o—

Read This

The success you achieve in life depends largely upon what you do during the first five years after leaving high school. What you are at forty is determined by what you do during these years. To waste them idly drifting would be a costly error. The financial battles of 1945 will be won by those who prepare now. The tremendous cost of those struggles must be paid by the drifters.

Our courses are designed to help you win. They are abreast of the times. Over 50,000 students have won success by the aid of this training. Hundreds are added to the list every year. You can join this army of successful business men and women. You have the ambition and the native ability. Our training will lead you to certain prosperity. Write for our free booklets of information which tell about our college grade courses.

The Complete Hardware Store
With Quality and Service
YOUNG'S

A hardware store, located in the New First National Bank Building, that is never satisfied with a transaction unless the customer is.

That's why our success has been so marked. WE STAND SQUARE-LY BEHIND EVERY ARTICLE WE SELL. If a purchase from this store is not entirely satisfactory we deem it a favor if you return it.

Our stock of hardware is complete in every detail and the quality is unsurpassed. Young's service is known to be reliable. If it's hardware go to Young's.

If your property was worth $5,000 last year, how much is it worth today?

An easy problem from an insurance point of view—if you understand insurance as well as I do.

The answer should have an important effect on your property insurance, if you aim to give yourself adequate protection.
